Mikkies Corner, Health & Nutrition -

Exercise: 1 Corinthians 9:25; Every athlete exercises self-control in all things. They do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we an imperishable. (our you working out or training). Many professional athletes end up with injury and spend endless hours away from their families For most of us exercise in moderation is best. Spending hours away from family, prayer, or other important things in our life and getting injured is not ideal. I work with many people that are guilty of this and think this is what they have to do to get results. After working with them they are astounded of their results with only 30-60 minutes a day of a combination of effective & safe weight training and cardio.
