Weight loss Metabolism boosting products

L- Carnitine

A nutrient found in high amounts in meat. It has essential functions in the body and is involved with fatty acid oxidation (fat burning) and glucose (sugar) metabolism. However, it is not essential to your diet, since your liver and kidneys can produce it from the amino acids lysine and methionine.

Various studies concluded the following results:

- Supplementing with L-carnitine led to a 1.33 kg greater weight loss, on average, compared to a placebo.
- L-carnitine supplementation led to significant weight loss in diabetic and non-diabetic individuals, as well as obese and normal-weight people.
- The analysis indicated that the weight loss effects, of L-carnitine are strongest in the beginning but decrease over time.
- The relevance of these findings is unclear because the included studies varied widely in their design.
- Other studies findings were unclear as a calorie deficit diet was also implemented at the same time.

As with most things there can be side effects as: Nausea, vomiting, stomach upset, heartburn, diarrhea, and seizures. It can also cause urine, breath, and sweat to have a "fishy" odor in addition some implications if taking certain medications.

Saint Monica, or "Monica of Hippo":

Born in 331 A.D. in Tagaste, now present-day Algeria. Married off very young to a Roman pagan Patricius who he and his mother had violent tempers. While Monica's prayers and Christian deeds bothered Patricius, he is said to have respected her beliefs. Three children were born: Augustine, Navigius, and Perpetua. Unfortunately, Patricius didn't allow Monica to baptize their children. For years Monica prayed for her husband and mother-in-law, until finally, one year before Patricius' death, she successfully converted them. Perpetua and Navigius entered the religious life, but unfortunately Augustine became lazy and uncouth. This greatly worried Monica, so when Patricius died, she sent the 17-year-old Augustine to Carthage for schooling. While there, Augustine became a Manichaeon, which was a major religion that saw the world as light and darkness, and when one died, they were removed from the world of matter and returned to the world of light, which is where life comes from. After Augustine's education he returned home to share his views with Monica, who drove him from her table. Eventually Monica had a vision that convinced her to reconcile with her wayward son and happen to come upon St. Ambrose, who helped her convert Augustine to Christianity following his years of resistance. After 6 months, Augustine was baptized in the church of St. John the Baptist at Milan. The pair were led to believe they should spread the Word of God to Africa, but then Monica passed away. In 1430, Pope Martin V ordered her relics to be brought to Rome and many miracles were reported to have occurred along the way. Her funeral epitaph survived in ancient manuscripts and the stone it was originally written on was discovered in the church of Santa Aurea in 1945. Douglas Boin translated the tablet's Latin to read: "Here the most virtuous mother of a young man set her ashes, a second light to your merits, Augustine. As a priest, serving the heavenly laws of peace, you taught [or you teach] the people entrusted to you with your character. A glory greater than the praise of your accomplishments crowns you both - Mother of the Virtues, more fortunate because of her offspring."
