MIKKIE'S CORNER - Health & Nutrition

Weight loss Metabolism boosting products

As I go through these products each week, please remember that nothing replaces good nutrition and exercise. This still has to be implemented or maintained. Many of these products as you read work better with a healthy diet plus exercise. Also if you read many studies will say diet and exercise had better results than the product itself. Just like as in prayer, we can't just pray and think all will be better, action needs to take place by attending church, using our time and talents, going to confession....All these tools are given to us to help our prayers be answered and sometimes in ways we don't understand. Like good nutrition and exercise we may not think we are getting results, because we are focusing on the aesthetic side of results on the outside not realizing the lifesaving results happening inside.

Also the information I am providing I try gather from studies that are either; double blind, epidemiological, nonbiased, peer..., as you can Google anything you want and get the answer you are looking for but have no reputable study to back it or it's biased from the company producing the product.
