Weekly Environmental Tip - understanding terms on what breaks down and what doesn't:

With so many terms out there it is hard to understand what is the best method for our environment

Bio-or plant-based - means the plastic is made from plant materials rather than fossil fuels, but this doesn't necessarily mean it is biodegradable or compostable.

Bioplastic - is a confusing term that has two meanings -

- 1.) the plastic is biodegradable/compostable
- 2.) it is made from plant materials.

This term is not reliable.

Degradable - is neither biodegradable nor compostable, it does not require living organisms to break down as chemical additives are used in the plastic to make it crumble more quickly into smaller pieces of plastic than it would otherwise. Sad part is the plastic pollution problem is still there if not worsened as smaller pieces of plastic litter can be more hazardous to wildlife. Look for better options in next week's tip :)

MIKKIE'S CORNER - Health & Nutrition

Vegetarianism (not wacky but can be, if done incorrectly).

Final word on iron here are some symptoms that you may be low, and prompt you to get your levels checked:

1. Unusual Tiredness (oxygen not reaching tissue)
2. Paleness i.e. face, nails, under eyelids(hemoglobin gives blood the colour)
3. White lips and gums or cracked lips
4. Shortness of Breath
5. Anxiety (sympathetic nervous system reacts to lack of oxygen)
6. Irregular heart beat or murmur
7. Headaches or migraines
8. Sore and Swollen tongue
9. Restless leg syndrome
10. Hair loss
